

Do not lessen the protections for telephone solicitation. I receive far fewer unwanted calls, and like it very much. When the phone rings, I can be sure it is someone I want to talk to, rather than an annoying call from someone selling something I don't want. I don't interrupt time with my family to tell someone to quit calling my home.